The Challenge

Texas faces many challenges. Exploding human population, habitat fragmentation, invasive species, water concerns, and insufficient funding all combine to threaten wildlife in Texas. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has a plan to address all of these issues. The Texas Conservation Actions Plan (TCAP) is designed to guide the management of wildlife populations and their habitats to ensure their survival. Let us, as Texans, take care of our most cherished natural resources through voluntary management plans and prevent wildlife from becoming endangered. The TCAP and wildlife conservation need your support!

"Texas harbors an extraordinary and bountiful array of native fish and wildlife. Their future for subsequent generations depends upon the collective actions of us all."

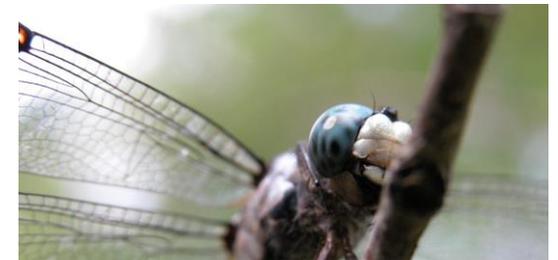

*Carter Smith
Director, Texas Parks and Wildlife
Department*
